THE SPEECH THAT FAILED.

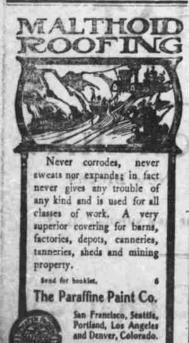

Accidents will sometimes happen ever in such well regulated institutions as that of the Portland Journal, whose Saturday evening edition contained full report of a speech which was never delivered. Congressional Candidate Reames was scheduled to address the Native Sons and Daughters of Oregon on Saturday afternoon at Champoeg. Had it not been for the train wreck which prevented his arrival, all would have been well. The text of the speech had of course been mailed by the hustling campaign correspondent of the Journal, who duly wired instruction to Through some bungle his message was delivered to this paper instead of to the Journal, which came out with the full speech, prefaced with this account of its reception:

"The appearance of Mr. Reames of the stand was the signal for an outburst ofenthusiasm, and if this may be taken as an example of his popularity with the people of Marion county, the county may as well be taken out of the doubtful column and placed to his credit. His address was highly appreciated for its delivery, historical incidents and patriotism. He was loudly applauded and the young man left a most favorable impression with his hearers. The people of this section showed their usual hospitality to the manner in which this strenuous age is bound to overreach itself occasionally. In order to be thoroughly up to date FOR 30 DAYS taken which leave no guarantee that disaster may not result. This is no other pursuits in this Men are bound to keep up with or a little in advance of the pro cession at whatever cost. They can not all succeed always. There is at least one sentence in the above quotation which cannot be well contradicted. That is the last one. The probabilitles are that Binger Hermann would not suffer much by the balance even if it had really reported facts, as the old standard bearer is sure to be elected.

STATISTICS MISLEADING.

Statistics show that crime is increasing, but they do not show that the world is becoming worse. Statistics often are misleading in this respect. A city in which arrests arenumerou must not, by reason of this fact, be set down as wicked. It may be that the difference lies in the manner in which the laws are enforced. There fore the city of many arrests may pos sess many points of moral excellence wholly lacking in the other.-Tacoma Puget Sound Limited 7:25 am 6:45 pm
